PLENTY OF GRIP.

"Grip? Plenty of it," said Dr. S. S. Stearn in answer to a STAR reporter's inquiries. "So far as my experience goes there are even more far as my experience goes there are even more cases now than during the epidemic last year.

The mortality, however, does not seem to be Temperature and condition of water at 7 s.m.—Great Falls, temperature, 58: condition. 37. Receiving reservoir, temperature, 53. A week or so of good weather will put an effectual check on the progress of the disease in this city. There are, however, the wise and the foolish, and the latter especially at this season of the year are bound to suffer.

"As soon as the grip scare has a little abate some people will commence taking off their heavy flannels and there will be another little run of colds or the grip. Epidemics, like this of the grip, come in waves. People are careless and thousands are caught by the disease. Then the sight of so much sickness and an un usual number of funerals on the streets raise a fright, and for a time extra care and precau tions are used and the epidemic burns itself out

IN ITSELF IT IS SIMPLE. "The grip is, in itself, a simple affair, and unaccompanied by outside complications needs simply care and quiet. The trouble, however is that the disease immediately attacks the weakest portion of the body. Where the phy-sician knows the condition of his patient he must, in a case of grip, protect any weakness which exists, whether it be of the lungs, heart,

"Yes, the disease known as the grip is as old "Yes, the disease known as the grip is as old probably as man, but owing to its infrequent occurrence and short duration it has been little studied and as little has been written concerning it. The epidemics usually last only a few months, and during that period physicians are too busy to make any very careful or extended investigation of the disease. When leisure comes there are no cases to investigate and so it goes. By the time another visitation and so it goes. By the time another visitation comes the physicians who are acquainted with the disease are all dead and the new goneration must meet the question anew.'

Scores of Policy Cases.

Judge Miller will be kept busy for some days when Assistant District Attorney Mullowney presents the policy cases which have been pending for several months. There are nearly one hundred of these cases, and some of them are more than a year old. In them the G. W. Laird and Neill Dumont filed a certificate defendants demanded jury trials, and the cases were indefinitely postponed until the jury was obtained, but now it is thought that they cannot be tried in the Police Court by the jury, but will have to be tried by the court as an examining magis trate and sent to the grand jury. Should more than half the cases go to the upper court it will take that tribunal nearly all the summer to hear

The prisoners were not identified. Other arrests will soon follow.

Weddings and the Grip.

If the doctors are all worn out battling with the grip the clergymen have additional reason to lament its reappearance at a season when their services are in almost daily demand at the hymeneal altar. No wonder therefore that HUTCHINSON'S. some amusing things occur in the hurry which obliges them to go so quickly from a happy scene on a sad errand. At one of the pretty home weddings lately one of the best known and most popular clergymen of the District officiated. This good man is not over-fastidious about his clothes, which he wears long after about his clothes, which he wears long after they have lost even a place in clerical fashions. After the wedding he went to visit a sick parishioner and then to the office of a business man. The latter began to laugh and asked the dominie "Where did you get that hat?" To his great chragin, when the clergyman looked at his shining tile, he found it to be a silk hat of the very latest dude pattern, and he could fancy the feelings of the best man after the wedding when about to resume his headgear he found when about to resume his headgear he foun in its place the capacious, broad-brimmed and beil-crowned beaver that had done service for the dominie for years and years.

The John A. Logan command, U. V. U., are making extensive preparations for their Grand Musical and Literary Entertainment at Lincoln Music Hall on the evening of the 21st instant. The decorations will be done by Professor Jewett under the supervision of Capt. W. A. Whitney and his committee. Some very interesting features connected with this entertainment are worthy of special mention. For instance: The alent secured is of the first order, embracing familiar faces and many new ones. The "Hoseless Orator of the Plains," Hon. Jerry Simpson, proposes to descant briefly on the subject of "Soldiers' Rights." rofessor Montgomery's class of juvenile dancers is said to be almost unapproachable in its artistic representation of the graceful pigeon-wing and other terpsichorean pyrotechnics. While the musical department, embracing the Orchestral Club (a fine instrumental organization under the direction of Protessor Ruleff K. Strattan) and Felix E. Mahoney, E. J. Whipple, Miss Emily Frech, Kittle Street, Charles West and the Davidson family as vocalists, and the further addition of Protessor J. Y. AtLee, the whistling wonder or human mocking bird, together with the banjo manipulations of the Tabler Brothers, would seem to be almost enough for the price of admission charged. But there is yet to come the dramatic, pathetic and comic specialities, which are in the hands of artistic elecutionary experts who are noted for their
